About MAWD

As the premier independent provider of pathology and laboratory services in the region, MAWD started testing for COVID in March 2020 to support our partner healthcare facilities. We soon recognized a critical need for accessible and reliable PCR testing outside of healthcare facilities and expanded our services to aid private businesses, public and private schools and educational institutions, local governments, and statewide testing initiatives. MAWD’s reliability and rapid turnaround times are keys to our clients’ success in returning to a new normal.
